

Barriers to Communication

1. Linguistic Barriers:

The language barrier is one of the main barriers that limits effective communication. Sometimes even a thick dialect may render the communication ineffective.

2. Physical Barriers:

They are the most obvious barriers to effective communication. They include barriers like noise, closed doors, faulty equipment used for communication, closed cabins etc.

3. Emotional Barriers:

The emotional IQ of a person determines the ease and comfort with which they can communicate. A person who is emotionally mature will be able to communicate effectively.

4. Attitude barriers.

Certain people likes to be left alone, they are the introverts or just people who are not very social. Some people have attitude issues like huge ego and unconsiderate behaviour.

5. Perception Barrier.

Different people perceive the same things differently. This is a fact which we must consider during the communication process. All the messages or communicate must be easy and clear. There shouldn't be any room for diversified interpretational set.

6. Psychological Barriers.

Some people have stage fear, speech disorders, phobia, depression etc. All of these conditions are very difficult to manage sometimes and will most certainly limit the ease of communication.

Barriers to Effective Communication

The process of communication has multiple barriers. The intended message will often be disturbed and distorted leading to a condition of misunderstanding and failure of communication.
