PERSON PROFILE

A dedicated English and Psychology student with a strong passion for storytelling, communication, and social impact. With experience in psychology, I bring a deep understanding of human behavior and emotions, which enhances my ability to write, analyze, and engage meaningfully. My work with various NGOs has strengthened my collaborative and empathetic approach to problem-solving. I am eager to explore opportunities in content writing, editing, and digital communication, where creativity meets critical thinking.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Internship at MSWS, Kolkata

May 2024 — July 2025

During my internship at MSWS, I had the opportunity to teach underprivileged children, focusing on language and basic education. Beyond academics, I observed and analyzed their behavioral patterns, aiming to understand their emotional and cognitive development. This experience deepened my insight into child psychology, resilience, and the impact of social conditions on learning. Engaging with these children strengthened my empathy, adaptability, and communication skills. It reinforced my passion for education, psychology, and social impact, shaping my perspective on inclusive learning and behavioral support.

Internship at Bless Society of Rural and Urban Development, Bangalore

July 2024 — October 2024

At Bless Society NGO, I worked with underprivileged, disabled, and blind children, focusing on education, counseling, and event organization. I created an inclusive learning environment tailored to diverse needs, ensuring accessibility and engagement for all students. Through counseling, I supported children in overcoming personal and academic challenges, applying psychological insights to foster emotional resilience. Additionally, I organized events to promote education, awareness, and community integration. This experience strengthened my adaptability, empathy, and leadership skills while deepening my commitment to inclusivity and social impact.
