PROFILE SUMMARY

I'm committed to making the law more accessible by blending rigorous analysis with creativity. I see legal challenges as complex puzzles, and I enjoy breaking them down into clear, actionable solutions. Alongside my passion for law, I'm deeply interested in psychology, mental health advocacy, and the media field. I believe that combining legal insights with an understanding of mental health can lead to meaningful change, especially when communicated effectively through various media. I'm eager to apply this unique blend of skills and passions to create a positive impact across these fields.
