About Me

I am a hardworking and enthusiastic Social Work graduate with internship experiences, seeking to make a positive impact in the NGO sector. I am very passionate about community challenges, learning from people, and making a difference. With critical thinking, problem-solving, and collaboration skills, I excel in teamwork settings. I like to learn about different cultures, travel, listen to music, and keep fit through exercise. I aim to apply my skills and interest to contribute positively to society while learning and developing continuously from the communities I work with.
