Budding Social Scientist & Aspiring Sociologist

Currently in my 2nd year of undergraduate studies in Sociology, I've already presented 16 research papers at national and international conferences hosted by top colleges and universities across India. I've successfully completed two longitudinal studies focusing on climate change, politics, and their interplay with media. As a dedicated researcher, I serve on the review boards of three international journals.

In collaboration with one of these journals, I recently organized a national research bootcamp for young researchers, drawing registrations from across India. I also lead a vibrant research collective — ROHINDH & INTERDISCIPLINARY RESEARCHERS — with 37 team members, where we assist Ph.D. scholars and emerging researchers in data collection, mentorship, and research guidance. Passionate about making research accessible and collaborative, I'm committed to fostering the next generation of thinkers and changemakers.
