Specialization in Education and Livelihood (MARGINALISED , VULNERABLE)

Dissertation: "COVID-19 and its challenge in Bihar - The impacts of this pandemic, especially the lockdown strategy in the social sphere is multidimensional. The health care services and systems in India are still developing and have challenges of workforce shortages, absenteeism, poor infrastructure and quality of care. In order for a strategy of containment and recovery to succeed, it is vital to keep using public health measures to suppress the epidemic. What could be important from a public health point of view is its impact on employment of millions of people in the rural areas who are migrant workers in many cities and educational opportunities.
