● ABOUT ME

A passionate and dedicated English Honours student at Shri Shikshayatan College, with a strong aspiration to pursue an academic career as a professor and researcher in English literature. I am deeply interested in exploring the nuances of language, literature, and critical theory. Alongside my academic pursuits, I have a keen interest in journaling and editing, which fuel my creative and analytical skills. I also hope to gain experience in the field of journalism. I bring with me a commitment to continuous learning, strong communication skills, and a deep appreciation for the written word. As I continue to develop my academic and professional journey, I seek opportunities to further refine my skills contributing to the advancement of knowledge and fostering intellectual growth.

Certificate Of Appreciation In Model United Nations – Mahadevi Birla Shishu Vihar

In my capacity as Head of the International Press Corps at Model United Nations, I led a team responsible for the journalistic coverage of diplomatic proceedings. This role required a high level of organization, leadership, and interpersonal communication. I developed and refined skills in public speaking, diplomatic engagement, and crowd management, all within a fast-paced, international setting. The experience strengthened my ability to navigate complex discussions, manage diverse groups, and foster collaborative environments — all of which are directly applicable to academic leadership and research coordination.

Certificate in Mass Communication – Birla Institute Of Liberal Arts And Management Studies

This certification in Mass Communication served as a dynamic space where my love for language met the pulse of media. From the art of storytelling in journalism to the confidence of public speaking, the course sharpened my voice—both on paper and in person. It empowered me to think critically, speak thoughtfully, and write with purpose. Through practical training and theoretical insight, I developed the ability to articulate ideas clearly, engage diverse audiences, and critically analyze information.

CONFERENCES AND SEMINARS

05/06/2023 – 06/06/2023 St. Xavier's University, Kolkata
Evolving Trends in Literary and Cultural Studies

Participated in a seminar that explored the evolving dynamics of literary and cultural studies in the contemporary world. The event featured discussions on emerging trends, critical theories, and interdisciplinary approaches, with a focus on how global and local cultural movements shape literature. The seminar provided valuable insights into the integration of new media, post-colonial theory, and modern critical frameworks, fostering a deeper understanding of the changing landscape of literature and culture in a globalized world.

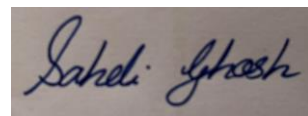

18/09/2024 – 19/09/2024 Shri Shikshayatan College, Kolkata

PCOD & PCOS AWARENESS PROGRAM

Attended an informative seminar focused on raising awareness about Polycystic Ovary Syndrome (PCOS) and Polycystic Ovary Disease (PCOD). The program covered critical topics including early detection, management strategies, and the impact of lifestyle on hormonal health. It aimed to educate participants about the physical and emotional challenges associated with PCOS/PCOD and provided practical tips for prevention and treatment. This seminar deepened my understanding of women's health issues and emphasized the importance of awareness and self-care in managing these conditions.

As a passionate and inquisitive student of English literature, I am eager to embark on a journey of discovery, teaching, and research. With a love for storytelling, critical analysis, and a desire to foster intellectual curiosity, I aim to inspire future generations through engaging lectures and thought-provoking discussions. I'm excited to bring my academic insights, creativity, and dedication to an environment that values both scholarly exploration and the transformative power of literature.
