PROFILE

I'm a third-year Interior Design student with a strong interest in how design influences the way people live, feel, and connect. I enjoy exploring ideas that combine creativity with intention—whether it's through shaping environments, building narratives, or solving everyday problems in thoughtful ways. I'm curious by nature, love working on collaborative projects, and bring a positive, detail-oriented mindset to whatever I take on. I'm excited by roles that allow me to think creatively, communicate visually, and contribute meaningfully—whether in design, strategy, or something entirely new.
