ABOUT ME

I'm a Sociology major at Shri Shikshayatan College with a deep interest in understanding how society functions and evolves. I'm passionate about exploring issues related to gender, culture, inequality, and human relationships. My academic journey has helped me develop a keen analytical eye and a compassionate heart—both of which I hope to use in bringing about positive social change. I love engaging in meaningful conversations, learning from different perspectives, and contributing to spaces where every voice matters.
