I am an incoming freshman at Gujarat National Law University with strong researching and analytical skills with great proficiency in writing, speed typing, reading comprehension with critical thinking along with proofreading and detailed orientation. I have a strong debating and elocution background which is testimony to my argumentative prowess and interpersonal skills.

I have demonstrated and developed these valuable skillsets through my internships and proactive participation in extra-curricular activities.

I am dexterous at digital editing in using applications like Canva, Figma, Invideo AI and CorelDraw, AI and researching tools and Microsoft tools including Word, PowerPoint and Excel.

I have eclectic interests that includes music and movies, composing blogposts and publishing them on my website; I am a bibliophile and a precocious, optimistic individual who believes in a solution-oriented approach for problems and tribulations. I, therefore, believe that my biggest skillset is converting complex problems into simpler solutions which is easy to process and function for each individual; thus, making the work easy and simplistic.
