ABOUT ME

I'm a content strategist with experience in building digital voices for brands through storytelling, short-form video, and platform-specific strategies. From crafting personality-based content at a dating startup to promoting authors at a literary agency, I've worked across diverse industries. I thrive on trendspotting, engaging copywriting, and turning insights into content that performs. My goal is to build scroll-stopping content that speaks to audiences and delivers impact—creatively and strategically.
