SUMMARY

As a high school student who has always excelled in balancing academics and sports, I believe my unique blend of discipline, focus, and leadership makes me an ideal candidate for the Project Management Intern role. I scored 94% in my 10th boards, demonstrating my commitment to academic excellence. I am also a national karate gold medalist, which highlights my dedication, resilience, and ability to perform under pressure.

After a career-ending injury, I had to step back from sports, but I'm eager to channel the skills I've developed into a new challenge. My experience in competitive sports has equipped me with teamwork, goal-setting, time management, and strategic thinking—all of which I believe are critical for project management. I am excited about the opportunity to apply these qualities in a professional setting and grow as a leader in this field.
