Profile

I'm Arpan Biswas, an engineering student with a strong foundation in Electrical, Physics, and Coding, currently also pursuing a B.S. in Data Science & Applications from IIT Madras.

I love bridging the gap between hardware and software, whether it's designing circuits, coding in Python, or diving into data analytics. My interests lie in embedded systems, tech-driven problem-solving, and creative design.

As a fresher, I may be early in my journey, but I bring energy, focus, and a commitment to always give my 100%. I'm curious by nature, driven by learning, and always looking to build things that make an impact.

Let's connect and collaborate on something meaningful.
