PROJECTS

Prepared a report on Houthis use of loitering munition against Saudi Arabia and its implication: A lesson for Red sea crises

- As part of my semester-long project, I conducted comprehensive research of Houthis past drone attacks in Saudi Arabia, analysing relevant literature and data sources.
- Documented the drone capabilities of the Houthi movement in Yemen and documented their attacks against Saudi Arabia in 2019.
- Collected, Processed and Analysed the patterns of drone attacks conducted by Houthis against Saudi Arabia in 2019
- Synthesis key finding to correlate attack's location and potential economic deterioration they posed to Saudi Arabia.
- Compared the similarities between the Red Sea attacks and Saudi Arabian attacks
- Analysed the change in Saudi Arabian relations with Houthis following these attacks.
- Provided insights regarding the strategic interest of red sea attack
