Communication Design student at Pearl Academy who's passionate about creating meaningful and engaging design experiences. I enjoy working across different mediums graphic design, UI/UX design, video editing and photography. My process always starts with research understanding the user, the context, and the story behind what I'm designing. I believe in designing with purpose and love finding the right balance between creativity and functionality. I also enjoy problem-solving finding creative, effective solutions to design challenges is one of the most rewarding parts of the process. I'm always curious to learn, grow, and refine my skills, and I look forward to collaborating with passionate professionals who value thoughtful, impactful design.
