Understanding Human Relationships

Kritika Chauhan

Aspiring Clinical Psychologist | Psychology & Economics(Hons)
Student at Christ University |
Delhi, India

Summary

Passionate about understanding human behavior and organizational dynamics, I am a diligent college student currently pursuing a dual degree in Psychology and Economics at Christ University, Bengaluru. My goal is to leverage my interdisciplinary education to become an effective Clinical psychologist, driving positive change within people and society.

Experience

MindCare Psychological Services

Clinical Psychology Intern

April 2025 - May 2025 (2 months)

Delhi, India

Observed and assisted in diverse psychological sessions, gaining hands-on exposure to assessment and intervention techniques across all age groups. Supported senior psychologists in conducting client sessions, developing treatment plans, and documenting case progress with accuracy and confidentiality.

Applied various therapeutic models, including Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT), Person-Centered Therapy, and Imago Relationship Therapy, to better understand client needs and intervention approaches.

Participated in case discussions and multidisciplinary team meetings, translating psychological theories into effective real-world practices.

Government Observation Home for Boys

Volunteer – Juvenile Rehabilitation Centre

January 2025 - February 2025 (2 months)

Bengaluru, Karnataka, India

Conducted structured behavioral observations and documented patterns for a month-long service learning project, contributing to the centre's rehabilitation research.

Assisted in organizing and facilitating group activities aimed at improving social skills, emotional regulation, and self-expression among residents.

Prepared detailed reports on juvenile behavior and rehabilitation outcomes, applying theoretical concepts from psychology coursework.

NIMHANS, Bangalore

Psychology Intern

August 2024 - September 2024 (2 months)

Bengaluru, Karnataka, India

I interned in clinical psychology at NIMHANS, where I supported:-

1. patient assessments
2. case history documentation
3. therapeutic interventions.

I observed clinical practices, contributed to case discussions, and assisted in developing treatment plans under professional guidance. I gained insights into diverse psychological disorders and therapeutic techniques in a multidisciplinary healthcare environment.
