

PROFILE

I'm Arpan Chatterjee from West Bengal, a passionate and expressive law student who believes in learning through dialogue and creativity. I enjoy playing the guitar, listening to music, and participating in debates, which have helped me develop confidence and clarity in communication. I'm someone who speaks my heart out yet balances it with thoughtful reflection through journaling. With a blend of analytical thinking and artistic curiosity, I aim to contribute meaningfully to every space I'm part of — both academically and personally.
