ABOUT ME

BA LL.B. student at National Law University Meghalaya with a strong academic interest in constitutional law, governance, and criminal justice reform. Beyond academics, I have engaged in legal writing, debate, and student representation, experiences that sharpen my advocacy and public-speaking skills. I aim to build my expertise through internships and research work in constitutional litigation and legislative analysis, with a long-term focus on contributing to public law and policy reform.

EXPERIENCE & ENGAGEMENT

Internships & Research Experience

- Research Intern: Engaged in ongoing faculty research on constitutional law and governance, focusing on case law analysis, legislative note drafting, and research brief preparation.

Legal Writing & Publications

- Published on SCC Online: analyzed domestic violence in matrilineal societies, focusing on legal policy gaps and governance implications
