

CHILD RIGHTS

WHAT ARE CHILD RIGHTS?

Child rights are universal human rights granted to all individuals under 18, ensuring their dignity, safety, and development. At an NGO level, recognizing these rights guides every intervention—be it education, protection, or advocacy. Rooted in the UNCRC, these rights emphasize every child's need for survival, development, protection, and participation in shaping their own lives.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN OF CHILDREN'S RIGHTS?

Children's rights started as a response to the need to protect minors from any form of exploitation, abuse, discrimination, and neglect. Historically, children were considered to be the property of their parents or guardians, and they were denied any type of participation in society. They didn't have a voice in the decisions that affected their lives

EVERY CHILD HAS THE RIGHT TO...

RIGHT TO SURVIVAL: Every Child has the right to life, proper nutrition, healthcare, safe drinking water, and a secure environment.

RIGHT TO PROTECTION: This protects children from abuse, neglect, exploitation, trafficking and child labour.

RIGHT TO DEVELOPMENT: Children must have access to quality education, play, creative expression and emotional growth.

RIGHT TO PARTICIPATION: Children have a right to be heard, express opinions and take part in decisions affecting their lives.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK

- Article 21A : ensures free and compulsory education for children aged 6 to 14.
- Article 39(e) (f) : protects children from abuse, exploitation and hazardous work
- Juvenile Justice Act (2015) : focuses on care, protection and rehabilitation.
- POCSO Act(2012) : addresses sexual offences against children.
- RTE Act (2019) : promotes inclusive, quality education.

ROLE OF NGOS

- Rescue and rehabilitate vulnerable children.
- Providing access to education, healthcare, and shelter.
- Conducting awareness and sensitization campaigns.
- Offering legal aid and psychological support.
- Advocating for stronger child protection policies.
- Empowering communities and promoting child participation.

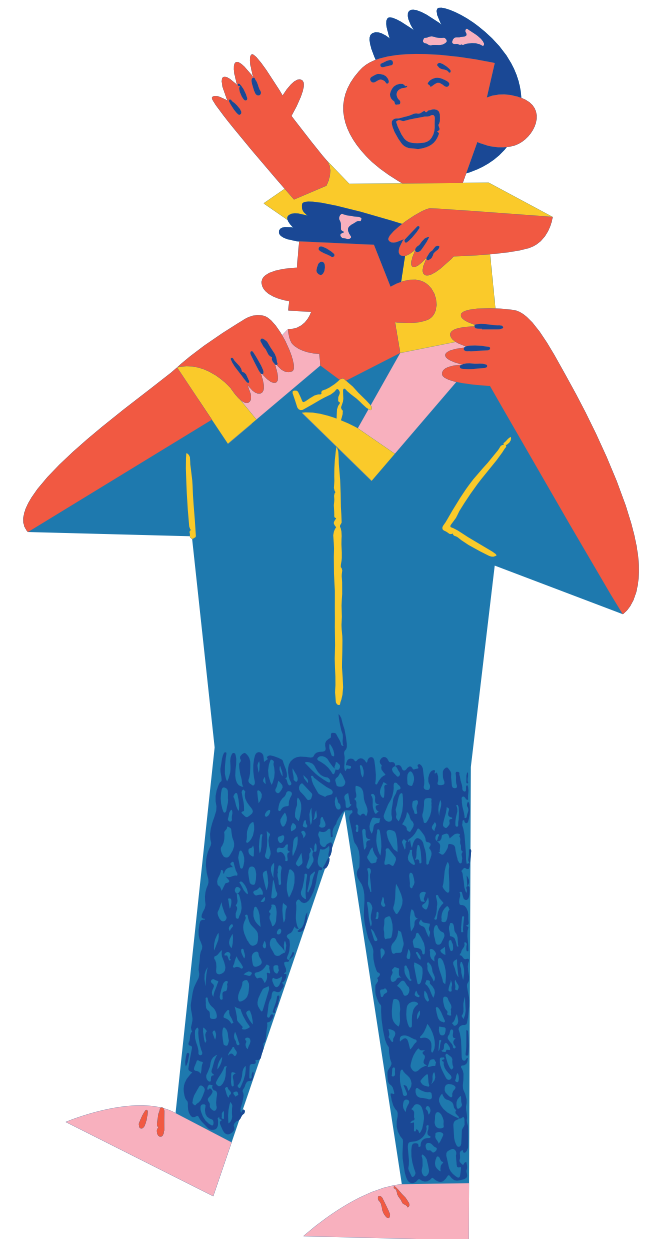

COMMON VIOLATIONS OF CHILD RIGHTS

Children face serious rights violations including child labour, early marriage, abuse, trafficking, and lack of education. Many suffer from malnutrition, poor healthcare, and emotional neglect. These injustices rob them of safety, dignity, and development. Addressing these issues is essential to protect childhood and ensure every child grows in a safe, nurturing environment.

HOW CAN WE CONTRIBUTE

We can protect child rights by raising awareness, reporting abuse, supporting education, and volunteering with NGOs. Creating safe, inclusive spaces and empowering children to express their voices are key. Small actions—like listening, teaching, or speaking up—collectively build a world where every child grows with dignity, safety, and opportunity.

THANK YOU!!
