

CHILD RIGHTS

INTRODUCTION TO CHILD RIGHTS

Child rights, enshrined in the Convention on the Rights of the Child, are fundamental freedoms for individuals under 18, ensuring their well-being and potential, rather than granting them privileges.

DEFINATION

Child rights are universal, civil, political, economic, social, and cultural rights for all children under 18, ensuring their full potential development regardless of their background.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

Child rights have evolved over time, shifting from property to inherent rights. Industrial Revolution brought changes in child labor practices, promoting awareness and advocacy for child protection.

20th Century Child Rights

- 1924: League of Nations adopts Geneva Declaration of the Rights of the Child, emphasizing child's right to development, special help, and protection from exploitation.
- 1959: United Nations adopts Declaration outlining child's rights to protection, education, healthcare, shelter, and nutrition.
- 1989: UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) adopted, recognizing all fundamental child rights.

Modern Era

- The CRC has been instrumental in shaping national laws and policies related to child protection, education, healthcare, and other areas, although challenges remain in ensuring full implementation and addressing disparities in different regions.

CATEGORIES OF CHILD RIGHTS

→ Right to Survival:

- Includes life, basic needs, healthcare access, and adequate living standards.

→ Right to Development:

- Encompasses education, leisure, play, cultural activities, emotional, mental, and physical development, and access to information.

→ Right to Protection:

- Protects children from abuse, neglect, exploitation, child labor, conflict, and discrimination.

→ Right to Participation:

- Encompasses freedom of expression, participation in life decisions, group membership, and access to relevant information.

UN CONVENTION ON THE RIGHT OF THE CHILD

Key Principles

-
- International human rights treaty for children and young people under 18.
 - Grants comprehensive civil, political, economic, social, and cultural rights.
 - Adopted by UN General Assembly on 20th November 1989.
 - Widely ratified by 196 countries.
 - Non-Discrimination: All children have the right, regardless of race, religion, or abilities.
 - Best Interest of the Child: All decisions should prioritize their best interest.
 - Right to Live, Survive, and Develop: Every child has the right to live and grow to their full potential.
 - Respect for the View of the Child: Children have the right to express their opinions.

INDIA'S ROLE AND RATIFICATION OF UNCRC

- Ratified UNCRC on December 11, 1992.
- Committed to protecting and promoting children's rights under 18 years.
- Implemented child rights in national law, policies, and practice.
- Regularly reported to YEN Committee on child rights.
- Ensuring children's rights to healthcare, education, protection from abuse, family life, and decision-making participation.

UNCRC IMPORTANCE

```
graph TD; Title[UNCRC IMPORTANCE] --- Subtitle[Uncrc Importance]; Title --- Line1[ ]; Title --- Line2[ ]; Title --- Line3[ ]; Line1 --- Box1[Ensuring government accountability for child rights.]; Line2 --- Box2[Empowering children for societal protection.]; Line3 --- Box3[Serving as a framework for country's law and policy.];
```

Ensuring government accountability for child rights.

Empowering children for societal protection.

Serving as a framework for country's law and policy.

Major Violations of Child Rights

- Child Abuse, Labor, Marriage, Trafficking in Juvenile Justice System
- Child abuse: Physical, sexual, emotional abuse causing long-term psychological trauma.
- Child labor: Forced work in hazardous conditions.
- Child marriage: Loss of education, health risk, and domestic violence.
- Child trafficking: Violation of safety, education, and freedom.
- Neglect in Juvenile Justice System: Unlocked detention, poor living conditions, lack of legal aid.

YOUTH'S ROLE IN CHILD RIGHTS

- Raising awareness about child rights through school, college, and social media discussions.
- Volunteering to teach or assist underprivileged children.
- Stand Against Child Abuse by reporting child labor, abuse, or neglect.
- Supporting NGOs and Campaigns by participating in or raising funds for child welfare organizations.
- Promoting Inclusion and Equality by treating all children with kindness.
- Being a Role Model by practicing kindness, fairness, and justice daily.
- Responsibilities include staying informed, participating in community efforts, and building a safe environment.

CHALLENGES IN IMPLEMENTING CHILD RIGHTS

Challenges in Implementing Child Rights

- Poverty: Lack of basic necessities leads to exploitative situations like child labor or child marriage.
- Education & Awareness: School closures, inadequate infrastructure, and low awareness can result in neglect and violation of rights.
- Inadequate Law Implementation: Corruption, lack of awareness, and insufficient resources hinder enforcement.
- Discrimination and Inequality: Minority, refugee, migrant, and LGBTQI+ children often face discrimination.
- Violence and Abuse: Children are vulnerable to various forms of violence.

ROLE OF NGOS AND CIVIL SOCIETY IN CHILD RIGHTS PROTECTION

- Awareness and Advocacy: Educate communities about child rights and advocate for policy reforms.
- Rescue and Rehabilitation: Provide shelter, counseling, education, and vocational training to children.
- Monitoring and Reporting Violations: Act as watchdogs, set up child helplines, complaint mechanisms, and community monitoring systems.
- Providing Services and Support: Offer non-formal education, healthcare, nutrition, and emotional support in underserved areas.
- Empowering Children and Communities: Promote child participation in decision-making through child clubs and youth forums.

MEMBERS:

KRITTIKA MITRA

SAILENDRI BHATTACHARJEE

SUHANANEOGY

SHREYA MITRA

SHAONI SEN

A group of diverse students are gathered in a library, celebrating enthusiastically. Several students have their arms raised in the air, and they are all smiling and laughing. The background is filled with bookshelves, and a laptop is visible on a table in the foreground. The overall atmosphere is one of joy and accomplishment.

THANK YOU